MORMONS HELD UP BY SALAZAR; HE GIVES HIS VIEWS ON THE WAR

Tells Them They Must Not Attempt to Travel Except Over Recognized Roads and Through Regular Ports of Entry—Gives Them Food and Says if United States Intervenes, Mexicans in Bisbee, El Paso and Elsewhere Will Murder Americans in Those Localities.

H. S. Harris and party, including nine colonists, came in from the Chihuahua-Mormon colonies last evening. As they were returning they were held up by Gen. Salazar in the same place that Capt. Can had held them up as they entered Mexico. It was about midnight 30, or four miles from the "corner." The rebels were just returning from an encounter at Nogales with the federalists. They claim to have come out without a scratch and to have scattered and killed all but 17 of the 45 federalists who were in the encounter. The rebels held three

"Stopped My Cough And Gave Me Health"

Says Mrs. Ila Benjamin who calls it "The Grandest medicine ever made." It cured her of a cold when her doctor could give her no relief and built up her weak run-down system after years of poor health. "It is with great pleasure I write to tell you what I think of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I sincerely believe it is the grandest medicine ever made. It relieved me of a cough that my doctor could not stop. I had been in poor health three years. I took lots of medicine, but none of it seemed to do me any good, till I heard of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and got three bottles and took it. Now I am better and I tell everyone how it helped me."—Mrs. Ila Benjamin, Woodhull, N. Y.

has brought during the past half century the blessings of health to thousands of the overworked, delicate and sickly. It overcomes all weakening, wasting and rundown conditions of the body, brain and muscle, and is wonderfully effective for all throat, lung and stomach troubles.

CAUTION—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, be sure you get the genuine. It is sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY—never in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. $1.00 a large bottle. Write for a medical booklet and doctor's advice, free. federalists prisoners, and claim to have killed 30. Salazar's company numbered 119 and their ages ranged from 12 to 37. The oldest soldier fought against Maximilian and is an enthusiastic avenger. Salazar was very indignant that travel should be kept up between the United States and the colonies and said if it did not cease he would deal harshly with them. They showed the passport given by Canse but took no notice of it and refrained from commenting upon it. The Americans remained as the guests of the rebels and were well treated and found plenty of good food to eat. They sat down to a supper of good beef, chicken, omelets, tortillas and strong coffee.

Give Appear to Salazar. They presented Salazar with a box of Mexican apples and he was so kind enough to divide them with his soldiers, with whom his word is law and his orders remarkably well obeyed. The general agent the evening in expressing himself on sociology. He denounced the American press and American loans in general for their accusations against him; he also denounced the colony leaders for leaving their homes in Mexico, saying it was unnecessary and pointing to those who have remained in the colonies and who are the leaders were hunting nobility. He says the Americans and the American press have accused him of being a thief, robber, murderer, etc., but that it is false; that he is fighting for humanity, justice, liberty, and equality, and is long the same warfare will be waged against nations; that labor will rise again.

Little Respect for Tatt. He has little respect for president Taft. He said Taft is controlled by the money and the money men, and that he is false to every guarantee; that he has corrupted the elections, favored his own family at the expense of the public, etc. He says he does not fear intervention; that if the United States should intervene, all Mexico would fight; that the war would break out in Bisbee, Los Angeles, El Paso and other points where Mexicans and Americans would fight Americans in their own cities. He thinks if the making of liquor could be prevented, and if crime and immorality were frowned upon, they would cease to exist. He said he admires the Mexicans because they are temperate and care for their poor, infirm, aged, and children. He says the guns, ammunition, horses and saddles taken by the rebels from the Mexicans are usually paid for. He said the property lost since the departure of the federalists and left them to murderers will be a dead loss to the owners.

Travel Is Restricted. He said again that travel would not be allowed between the colonies and the United States; that the Western finished its repairs and carried one federal soldier, the bridges would again be burned. "Americans can travel in Mexico if they come unarmed," he said. Next morning he gave the colonists permission to take their outfits and they made haste to get out. As they were leaving, he said, to tell all Americans that the road the colonists had taken could not be traveled again, and those who persisted in it would be dealt with harshly. He said all duties must be paid and such travel as was made must be paid for. The talk with the rebel soldiers revealed the fact that at Colonia Seco, near La Ascension and Guzman, 30 federalists were drinking and playing and singing with their musical instruments, the rebels would upon them and so scattered and killed them that Salazar's federal commander, arrived in La Ascension with only eight followers.

Rebels Burned the ranch at Nogales and said the property of every American who permitted federal soldiers to subsist upon it would be burned and destroyed. In northern Chihuahua, there are 3500 rebels in five divisions, located between Nogales and Guzman. The rebels seem to be planning to take the Mexican settlement of Palomares, opposite Columbus in the near future; then will follow La Ascension and Guzman. Enrique Portillo, they say, is located between La Ascension and Guzman. They had not heard the report that he had been killed.

Stealing in Colonies. In the colonies there is more or less stealing going on, according to the returning colonists, but the boys and men are trying to save for their property. Salazar says it is the duty of the colonists to aid the rebels; that it is a right the rebels have to enforce assistance. Mr. Spillberg's little girl died of typhoid fever and they chartered a train and took her to Dublin for burial. He says has typhoid in Pearson and is quite ill.

There are small garrisons of federalists at Pearson, Camp Grandes and at La Ascension, the colonists report. Edmund Richardson came into Salazar's camp a prisoner while the other colonists were there. He had with him two Mexicans, one riding in the seat and one lying in the buggy. Both proved to be escaped soldiers from the Nogales fight who had crossed the line, but were not allowed to remain in United States soil. Salazar threatened to shoot them, and called them hired murderers, etc., but finally they swore allegiance and were given the freedom of the camp.

LATEST THEORY OF CATARRH EXPLAINED BY DR. HARTMAN

is, however, the discharges are not properly mucus. Real mucus does not irritate but is a wholesome fluid which covers every mucous membrane in the body. The catarrhal discharge is a deranged sort of mucus that is irritating and very unwholesome. Such a discharge not only further irritates the mucous membranes, sometimes completely destroying them, but the discharge is a weakening strain on the system. Precious blood serum is lost in this way.

This condition of affairs is liable to happen in the stomach, in the bowels, and any other internal organ. As said before, it most frequently occurs in the nose and throat.

Sometimes a little relief can be obtained by the use of local applications, especially when the catarrh is confined to the nose and throat. But catarrh cannot be antecipatedly treated by local applications. The only remedies that are effective are internal remedies.

To devise a remedy for catarrh that could be taken safely and effectively for catarrh wherever it happened to be located in the body, to devise such a remedy has been the ambition and study of my lifetime.

I think I have obtained such a remedy in Peruina. I regard Peruina as an effective and a safe catarrh remedy. I have never recommended it for any other disease than catarrh. The notion that Peruina is liable to affect so many organs for which I have recommended Peruina that it has given rise to the impression that I recommend Peruina for different diseases. I recommend Peruina only for catarrh. Peruina is a cure-all for catarrh. It not only for catarrh of the nose and throat, but for catarrh of the stomach and lungs, larynx, liver and other internal organs.

If catarrh affects the colon, the intestines, or the lungs, Peruina is the remedy.

Not because Peruina is a remedy for many diseases, but because catarrh can locate itself in these various organs and disturb their functions.

Sometimes catarrh is associated with constipation. Other times a catarrhal subject may not be troubled with constipation. In some instances there is a looseness of the bowels.

People beginning the use of Peruina for chronic catarrh, wherever located, will usually get valuable advice by writing me, giving me a statement of the case.

I do not think it will be necessary for me in this article to describe catarrh of the various organs of the body. It is sufficient for me to say in a general way that any organ is subject to catarrh, because these organs are lined by a mucous membrane. When once catarrh attacks an organ it deranges the function of that organ more or less.

If catarrh attacks the stomach dyspepsia is the result. If it attacks the larynx and bronchial tubes, bronchitis and laryngitis will result.

If catarrh attacks the kidneys disturbance of the urinary organs is certain. Catarrh of the bladder is a very common form of catarrh. It produces distressing symptoms, large proportions of men and middle-aged men have this form of catarrh, more or less.

I not only devised a remedy to meet these cases, but I have at my command a corps of assistants and helpers which enable me to come into personal touch with thousands of people suffering from catarrh and assist them in the treatment of their case. I re-run Man-e-lin and La-cu-pla manufactured by the Peru-na Company, Columbus, Ohio, sold at all drug stores. NOTICE—Many persons inquire for The Old-Time Peruina. They want the Peruina that Dr. Hartman and his assistants used to use. The old Peruina is now called Peru-na. If your dealer does not have it for sale write the Ka-tar-rh Company, Columbus, Ohio, and they will tell you all about it.—Advertisement.
